Type Foundry.

E. WHITE & W. HAGER,

RESPECTFULLY inform the Printers of the United States, to whom they have long been individually known as Letter Founders, that they have now formed a co-partnership in said business, and hope from their united and extensive experience, to be able to give full satisfaction to all who may favor them with their orders.

The introduction of machinery, in place of the tedious and unhealthy process of casting type by hand, a desideratum by the European and American Founders, was by American ingenuity, and a heavy expenditure of time and money, on the part of our senior partner first successfully accomplished.—Extensive use of the machine-cast Letter, has fully tested and established its superiority, in every particular, over that cast by the old process.

The Letter Foundry business will hereafter be carried on by the parties before named, under the firm of White, Hager & Co. Their Specimen exhibits a complete series from Diamond to 14 lines Pica; the book and news Type being in the most modern and light style.

WHITE, HAGER & CO. are agents for the sale of Smith and Rust Printing Presses, which they can furnish to their customers at the manufacturer's prices.

Chases, Cases, Composing Sticks, Ink, and every article used in the Printing business kept for sale, and furnished on short notice. Old Type taken in exchange for new at nine cents per pound.

L. R. BRADLEY.
Fayetteville, March 2. 24tf.

During a ramble around our wharves and ship-yards the other day, we were forcibly impressed with the advantages we possess in the superiority and abundance of building timber. Finer can not be found, and we can command any quantity, with little labour and at very moderate prices. A northern builder would be surprised to see how choice our workmen are in their selections. Timber that would be considered very fair in places of greater scarcity, is here thrown aside, and none but the very best is taken. In the vessels now on the stocks we think it would be difficult to point out a single timber which the most fastidious workman would not approve. Northern merchants who purchase vessels for the coasting trade should know these things; both their interest and ours would be promoted by the knowledge. —The schooner Exchange, a fine specimen of our excellent materials and of the faithfulness of our workmen, will sail for New York in a few days. We wish that the masters of such vessels would invite the attention of good judges to them in the various ports which they visit. Another profitable and permanent branch of commercial intercourse might thus be established.

Newbern Spectator.

If ever there was a season in North-Carolina which especially deserved the appellation of prosperous, this is the one. Produce of every description finds not only a ready market, but brings a high price. Cotton, corn, bacon, butter,—in short every thing that the farmer offers for sale, commands such rewards for his past labor as must satisfy his utmost wish and encourage him to enter on the toils of the coming year with renewed energy and hope. And what is yet more consolatory and cheering, the prospect in advance speaks of a continuance of our prosperity.—Ib.

New Orleans, Oct. 1.

We are of opinion that the health of the city has been improved by the cold spell we had about a week since. The daily interments have greatly diminished within a few days past, and should the present weather continue, which tho' warm, is not oppressive, owing to the fine breeze with which we are favoured, our city will soon be restored to its usual health. Upwards of five hundred strangers have entered the city since Saturday, some of whom we understand, have fallen sick and died.

The number of interments in the Catholic and Protestant Cemeteries in New Orleans, for the month of September last, was 970.

The Wolf on his Death Bed.—The wolf in his last moments, cast a scrutinizing look over his past life. "I certainly am a sinner," said he, "but yet I hope none of the worst. I have committed many crimes, but I have also done much good.—Once I remember, a little lamb, which had strayed from its mother, approached so near to me that I might have easily killed, and yet I spared it. At the same time I was listening, with the greatest equanimity to the sneers and abuse of a sheep, although no dogs were near to protect it.

"All that, I witnessed," interrupted friend Fox, who was his confessor; "I remember every circumstance. It was at the time thou wast almost suffocated by the large bone, which the good hearted crane afterwards extracted from thy throat."

FROM THE SALISBURY JOURNAL.

In the final number of my essay on manufactures, it seems right and proper to submit some facts to substantiate the former arguments on the subject; which facts are contained in the following extract of a letter from the superintendent of the Lincoln Cotton Factory, in North Carolina, to the writer. Further or other remarks on its great importance and practicability, seem to be unnecessary.

Lincolnton, N. C. 14th Sept. 1833.

DEAR SIR—Your letter of the 2d inst. requesting some statistical account of the Lincoln cotton manufactory, under my superintendence, has been received, and would have had an earlier notice, had the press of business permitted. We commenced building our establishment in the year 1823, and got it into operation some time in the year 1824, and then only partially; but have had it completed so far as was first intended, for several years past.

Your first question is, "what amount of capital is invested in the establishment?"

I think from the best estimate I can make, our establishment has cost us about Forty-five thousand dollars, including a superior mill for making oil of flax seed, Smith shop, machine shop, Wool carding machine, and cotton gin, with the out buildings, (Labourers' lodgings, Store houses, stables, &c.)

"2d. How many hands are employed in the establishment?"

We employ 42 hands, three overseers and one mule spinner, one machinist and one assistant machinist, one Clerk, one Smith, and one Carpenter, in all 52 hands properly belonging to the Factory.

"3d. How many white hands, and how many blacks?"

At this time all the hands employed are white persons; we have formerly employed black hands but have none at present.

"4th. What wages is paid to the white hands?"

The 42 hands above mentioned, receive on an average of one dollar and fifty-four cents per week, the three overseers and mule-spinner, receive about one dollar per day, and we have occasionally under peculiar circumstances paid them two and two fifty per day.

"5th. Are the blacks efficient hands, &c?"

So far as we have tried them, we find no deficiency, and I think them capable of learning any part of the business, that is proper for them to learn.

"6th. What amount of cotton is used?"

We work annually from 70 to 80 thousand pounds —(equal to 220 bales.)

"7th. What qualities of cotton cloth are produced?"

We have wove as fine as No. 12 and 14, but we are now weaving No. 10, and make cloth 4-4 wide weighing about six ounces per yard; we have made bed ticking and diaper, and are now weaving some No. 5 and 6, for Negro clothing.

"8th. What profit does the establishment yield to the stockholders?"

Our company consists of three persons with equal shares; our profits have varied, some years greater, and some less; at present it is nearly eleven per cent. on the capital invested. It is difficult to make a calculation on one particular branch, where several are blended together; no positive certainty can be expected or attained, when they are so complicated, as not to admit any certainly just separation.

We have 736 spindles in operation which spin annually, 662,400 skeines, taking nine for an average number would make of yarn spun 73,600 pounds. Deducting for the Eight Looms used in the factory 21,818 pounds, would leave 51,782 pounds of yarn for sale at 30 cents per pound, amounts to the sum of $15,534 60

8 Looms at 25 yards per day, at 12½ cents per yard, is 7,500 00

23,034 60

This being the amount in gross of the income, I here state the expenditure.

Capital invested, say $36,000, allowing for the use and cost of the other machines, 75 thousand pounds of cotton, at 9 cents per pound added to the other capital, will make the sum of $42,750, at Interest of 6 per cent, $2,565 00

Insurance on $36,000 at 3 per cent, is 1,080 00

75 thousand pounds of cotton at 9 cts. per pound 6,750 00

Wear and Tear, at 3 per cent 1,080 00

Contingents, oil, iron, Smith and Carpenter, &c 1,500 00

Cost of hands, wages, &c. 5,600 00

18,605 00

The balance of $4,429 60, is not quite 11 per cent on the whole capital. $4,429 00

We have heretofore employed but few black hands, but have some thoughts of furnishing entirely with our own negroes. As to their capacity of learning, I think there is but little doubt, with me there is none. But to run a factory with black hands, requires more capital. Forty-two negroes, such as would be useful in the factory, would cost on an average $300 each, which would make the sum of $12,600.

Interest on this sum $756 00

Boarding clothing and taxes, at $35 each, 1,470 00

$2,226 09

Cost of 42 white hands in wages, $3,234 00. So that should we use negroes entirely, there would be annually saved the sum of $1,008 00. Another advantage in having black hands in place of white, is that they could be more strictly and steadily confined to their particular place and business, which is of great importance in conducting the Factory. I have thus answered your questions as far as I am able, and can say I am truly glad, the subject of manufactures has excited some attention in poor North Carolina. Is it possible the people of this State, can be brought to see their own real interest? We have been led astray by a set of gambling politicians, and have become blinded by prejudice, in favor of foreign trade, contrary to our best interest; for it would certainly be much to our interest to have a home market, and to have the articles we need manufactured as near home as possible; we in the west know the difficulty of obtaining articles which we have to depend on a foreign market or country for a supply of, and when obtained, we have to advance the money for them; but this would make but little difference provided we could sell all we have to spare for cash, and every farmer knows this cannot be done. Had we manufacturing establishments through the country they could supply the farmer with the articles he needed, for which the manufacturer would take such things as the farmer could well spare; this mutual exchange would be both convenient and profitable to all parties. But it is said, we can purchase goods of foreigners cheaper than we can manufacture them at home! The proposition is admitted to be correct; but what advantage is that to me; if I can be permitted to buy foreign iron at one cent per pound, or cotton cloth at 5 cents per yard, if I have not the money to give for either? The English and other Europeans will take but little of our produce except cotton on fair terms of exchange, and as our State is not in general well adapted to the culture of cotton, it follows that we cannot without great loss, continue to purchase European manufactures upon such unequal terms; having no market for heavier articles, we will shortly be unable to purchase the foreign goods at any price, while using domestic manufactures, it is not much difference how much they cost when we, by an equal quantity of labor are more fully able to pay for them. It is evident from these facts and reasons that manufacturing establishments benefit the farmers nearly in the same proportion that they benefit the proprietors; as they lessen the number of producers, and increase the number of consumers of the agricultural products, decreasing the quantity, and increasing the demand. These facts I think, few or none will deny. Then why not pursue a policy that would add to our wealth, comfort and convenience? and might I not add that it would increase our knowledge in science, greatly improve our state of society, and enhance the value of our real property of every description. Were a judicious course of internal improvement adopted by the State, it would be a most efficient auxiliary to the introduction and encouragement of manufactures, and there is a strong probability, nay even a moral certainty, that they must and would mutually assist each other.

As to the capability of this State for manufacturing, and its many natural advantages adapted to the business, the following facts give ample testimony. From Raleigh westwardly the State abounds in fine streams, affording water power sufficient to propel manufacturing machinery enough to supply North Carolina, and a country perhaps ten times as large, or at least ten times its present population. In the same district there is arable land enough to produce not only the raw material but the greatest abundance of provisions, besides an abundance of poor land fit only for pasture, with timber for building and fuel, to any extent. And Iron oar enough to supply the whole United States with Iron for any length of time, this mineral being considered inexhaustible. This same section of the State, a most healthy and temperate climate, is well adapted to the raising of sheep; and its citizens are surpassed by none, according to opportunity, in enterprize, genius and intelligence. The only draw-back or set-off on or against this eulogy is that the delusion of nullification, (which I feel almost ashamed to acknowledge) has obtained some encouragement among our citizens. Our citizens also have capital enough at least to begin the manufacturing and proposed internal improvements, were it abstracted from the hazardous and gambling speculations in which much of it is now employed.

Then it does appear to me, that there can be no good cause assigned why North Carolina should not, with all her weight of character, means and influence, use them and every other means which God and nature has put under the control of her government to encourage and promote a policy, tending at once to increase her wealth, her importance and political standing among her sister States and the world at large, as well as promote the happiness and comfort of her own particular citizens.

I feel warranted from information and experience in expressing my opinion, that no section of country in the United States or elsewhere possesses greater natural advantages for manufacturing establishments, than the western part of North Carolina; on the East and South immediately adjoining, lies a great extent of almost exclusive cotton country, and on the west, an exclusive grain and live stock region, bounded only by the extent of civilized population.

This soil and climate is also admirably adapted to raising sheep; and from the best information I can obtain on the subject, I state it as my entire belief that the farmers cannot turn their attention to a more profitable employment, connected with the principal business of farming, than that of raising sheep, and there is nothing but some practical illustration wanting, to turn their attention to it; such practical experiment might be made or should be made by some wealthy individuals, or some joint stock company, who are able to risk something for the benefit of the community.

What hinders this from being a great and flourishing State? We have good land sufficient, poor land to answer our purpose, water power abundant, and Iron oar inexhaustible; we can raise cotton, wool and flax, to give all a start we can dig the gold, providence has blessed us with, and we have one of the best of climates; then it would appear that nothing is wanting but a willingness on our part, to use the advantages we have. But one thing we need before we can carry on manufacturing establishments to any great extent, that is navigable streams, canals, or Rail Roads. At present we cannot manufacture to a greater extent than what will be consumed in the country. Our Legislature ought therefore, to give every encouragement to internal improvements, for the west cannot consume all that the west has the capacity to make. (The present state of internal improvement being such, our manufactured articles cannot go to a distant market, to meet a similar kind there upon a fair competition. And while our Legislature pursues the course it has been pursuing, and while a majority of the members care more for their own popularity than for the interest of the people; we shall be doomed to trudge along in the old beaten path of do nothing.

Yours, &c.

This extract contains information on the subject of which it treats, derived from actual experience, which is more certain and conclusive, than any speculative arguments based on theoretical hypothesis.

A Hint to Brides.—A few days since a couple went to Thames church to be married. The ceremony went on very well until the words "with this ring I thee wed," when the bride essayed for the last time to take her glove off her maiden hand. Whether it was agitation, heat, or nervousness, the leather clung to her hand, and would not part company. The bride blushed, and pulled, but in vain. The bridegroom (bold man) laughed outright; so did father, so did mother, so did the bride's maids, so did all the spectators, except the clergyman, and he (the Rev. Mr. Loe.) exclaimed, 'I did not come here to be laughed at, and shutting his book, left the ceremony half finished, the bride half married, and the glove half off. We add, for the satisfaction of sympathisers, that the bride went to church the next day, with her hand uncovered and the nuptial knot was then tied "as tight as a glove."—Portland Courier.

According to the tables of criminal justice, it appears that from 1827 to 1830, inclusive, 6,900 suicides were committed in France, making nearly 1800 every year!

Corn Plaster.—The following letter was given to me by the Earl of ——, on purpose for this book; and I set my man to try it on several unfortunates, who has given him their blessings for the cures he has made: Mercurial plaster, diachylon ditto, with resin and diachylon ditto, two drams of each; sugar of lead 20 grains; all mixed together and spread on leather. Apply a piece of the plaster for three or four days. Then soak the foot, and rub the corn with a piece of pummice stone. Again repeat the plaster, and the corn will soon disappear. N. B.—The corn never to be cut.

Philadelphia, Oct. 7.

The Hon. Henry Clay and his family were on Saturday met at Frenchtown by a committee of gentlemen appointed at a public meeting to wait upon them to this city, and to conduct them to the lodgings provided for them.

About two o'clock, Chesnut street wharf and the wharves adjoining were crowded with citizens, awaiting the arrival of the expected guest; and the numbers continued to ncrease, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. Shortly after three o'clock, the steamboat Robert Morris hove in sight round the point, and her extra decoration of flags gave notice that Mr. Clay was on board. When the Robert Morris reached the wharf, the passengers gave a hearty cheer, and the Steamboat New Philadelphia run up her flags. When Mr. Clay landed, he was greeted with huzzas, which continued until he arrived at the United States Hotel, to which he was conducted by his friend, the Hon. John Sergeant.

Mrs. Clay and the other members of the family rode from the steamboat with Matthew Carey, Esq. who was, as usual, prompt and efficient to do honor to those who have done good to the people.

At the U. S. Hotel, Mr. Clay received a great number of his friends. He will, we understand, leave the city to-morrow for Boston, where he has a son in the counting room of the Messrs. Lawrence.

Vermont.—The Legislature of Vermont met at Montpelier on the 10th. The organization of the House and the Canvass of the votes show that the Anti-masonic Governor, Lt. Governor, Treasurer and Councillors, are all elected. The Legislaure, too, to judge by the choice of Speaker, is Anti-masonic. John Smith, the candidate of that party, being elected on the first balot, by a majority of four votes out of 244.

Manufacturing.—It appears from an ingenious statement, that there are in the United States 795 Cotton Mills, moving a capital of $40,714,984, and manufacturing yearly 77,714,316, pounds of cotton, or 214,882 bales. The number of spindles, 1,246,000; looms, 33,506; yards of cloth made, 230,461,900; hands, females 31,827; males 18,479; total, 57,406; pounds of starch used, 1,641,253; barrels of flour for sizing, 17,245; cords of wood burnt, 46,519; tons of coal, 24,402; Charcoal, 9,201 bushels; gallons of oil used, 300,338; haul weavers, 4,760; total dependants, 11,626, annual value of cotton manufactures, $26,000,000; aggregate of wages paid $11,294,445.

More Murders.—We learn from the Missouri Republican that a tragical affair took place recently in Franklin co. in that state. Two citizens of that county—one of them personally known to the editor, and a most respectable man—had some difference while at work in a corn field. They agreed to settle the matter between themselves with rifles, and resorted to a wood for that purpose. They fought in the Indian style, interposing trees and every other defence of life. At length they fired—and both fell. One of them died instantly; the other survived but about twenty-four hours.

A letter to the Editors of the Kentucky Reporter, dated Winchester, Ky. October 1, says: "This morning, about 8 o'clock, an unfortunate rencounter took plac before the Court House door, between Samuel R. Combs and Sons against two of the Bushes, (sons of Ambrose,) which terminated in the death of Samuel R. Combs, sen. His head was nearly separated from his body, the main artery being entirely separated. Combs had shot a man named Neilson the day previous, with a pistol, and was in custody of the Sheriff, and the Bushes were summoned as a guard. He died in about 30 mnutes or less, after he had received the cut.'

"We shall commence making Sugar the middle of October; crops are very good, and planters have large expectations: and I assure you they need money, for there are no men more in debt than Sugar planters. I have one piece of news for you.—Natchez on the Mississippi, 200 miles above is becoming a shipping port—two ships, of 500 tons, have gone up lately from New York, and vessels from Liverpool are expected shortly: they will load with Cotton for New York and Liverpool. Business is very brisk—they are making great alterations and improvements for an extensive commercial business, and before long we may expect it to be a very flourishing Town. The people are wealthy, the lands are rich, and for good cotton, Carolina and Georgia cannot compare with them."

Extensive Forgeries.—Yesterday, about noon, Messrs. Copeland & Lovering received a letter from Charles Brown, of the late firm of Brown & Ellis, merchants on Long-wharf, but more recently a broker,—stating that he was owing 100,000 dollars, that they would not find him, dead or alive, &c. It had been enclosed to his brother, Mr. Nathaniel Brown, on Saturday, with directions, if he did not appear on Monday, at noon, to deliver it to Messrs. C. & L. This letter induced inquiries, which resulted in ascertaining that for some time past Brown had been engaged in extensive forgeries of the names of merchants to notes, as promisers and endorsers, which he had negotiated, to the amount, it is said, of one hundred thousand dollars! Among the names he had forged were those of Mess. Copeland & Lovering, Nath'l Brown, his brother, and Isaac Jackson, (of the firm of Jackson & Tilton,) Boston, and Thomas Jackson, of Plymouth. These forged notes he had disposed of to a considerable number of merchants, and others at one per cent per month interest, &c. The forgeries were generally well executed. We understand there is as yet no clue to the direction he has taken.

Another Steamboat Robbery.—Mr. Miles L. Landon, of Trumbull county, Ohio, was yesterday morning robbed of 7000 dollars whilst coming from on board the steamboat Ohio. His coat pocket which contained the money was adroitly cut out of his coat, without his perceiving it until after the thief had got off with his booty. Five hundred dollars of the money were in 20 dollar bills of the Painsville Bank, Ohio; two 50 dollar bills of the United States Bank; 2000 dollars in 3 dollar, 10 dollar, and 20 dollar bills of the Warren Bank, Ohio, and a considerable sum in bills of the Banks of this State and city.—N. Y. Jour. Com.

Steam Boat Disaster.—Several fragments of a Steam Boat have recently been washed up on the Sea beach, near Caffee Inlet, in Currituck county; which, taken in connexion with the following facts stated by the Captain of the schooner Pastmaster, renders it almost certain that some steam vessel has been lost on that part of our coast: "Capt. Patridge, of the schr. Pastmaster, saw off Caffee Inlet about the 15th Sept. between him and the land, a steam boat standing to the north, a considerable distance in shore of him; the man at the helm saw an unusual smoke in the direction of the steam boat, and observed that she had blown up—he standing to the South and hearing no explosion, did not think any more of it." In a day or two after this, the fragments came on shore.

Another Steamboat Disaster.—Information as late as the evening of Friday, from Essex, Connecticut, where the steamboat New England blew up, has been received through the New York papers. Fourteen persons were then dead, and some others were not expected to survive. The explosion of the boat took place about 3 o'clock on Wednesday morning, while the boat was engaged in landing passengers at Essex, a small village near the mouth of the Connecticut river. Both her boilers exploded at the same instant. The concussion was tremendous. Persons who lived three miles from the place were awakened from their sleep by the shaking of their houses. The whole of the upper works in the centre and after part of the boat were shattered to fragments, and with a greater part of the baggage of the passengers, scattered to the four winds. The engine, at the moment, was not in motion. We remark that almost all these disasters occur while the engine has been stopped for some temporary purpose, and generally arise from the culpable desire of the master or engineer to save his steam at the risk of the lives of all on board.

The New York papers suggest several modes of guarding against these shocking accidents. It appears to us that the most effectual way of preventing them will be to make it the interest of the owners of steamboats to do so. It is useless to try to explain them away—they all result from carelessness or fool-hardiness, and if the owners were by law fined 2 or 3000 dollars for every person who should be killed or hurt by the explosion of boilers, or from fire proceeding from the furnace, we should have to lament the occurrence of such disasters very seldom, if at all. With such a penalty hanging over them, we believe the proprietors of steamboats would take effectual steps to avoid its infliction. Engineers would no longer dare to peril the lives of a hundred human beings to save fifty cents worth of steam.

Nat. Intell.

The explosion of the steamboat New England is an awful event, and ought to be considered as admonitory. According to a letter from the Collector's office at Middletown, "on going out of New York, she had a race, which continued some hours, with the Boston, belonging to the Providence line."

Whilst we are writing, the waters of the Potomac above Harper's Ferry, are silently flowing into the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal. Passing the long contested Point of Rocks into the long finished part to Seneca, they will connect the tide water of this District to the fertile region of the Shenandoah, and the upper part of Virginia and Maryland watered by the Potomac and its tributary streams.

This part of the Canal is the most expensive of the Eastern section. The difficulties have been surmounted in a manner which reflects the highest degree of credit on those who directed and those who have executed the work. Early in the ensuing season, more than one hundred miles will be completed, passing Shepherdstown and Williamsport in its route.—Alex. Gaz.

A New Rail Road.—It was only very lately suggested in some of the papers, that a Railroad from Richmond to Potomac Creek, would be very desirable; and we find by the last Richmond Compiler, that a subscription has been at once taken up, and a sufficient sum raised to make an immediate survey of the most eligible route, before the meeting of the next Legislature, when it is expected that an application will be made for a charter to carry the plan into effect.

Amendments to the Constitution.—The plan for amending the Constitution of the United States, relative to the election of President and Vice President promised not many weeks ago by the United States Telegraph, appeared in that paper of the 1st instant; and will be found in our columns to-day. It proposes "to dispense with all superfluous machinery;" to abrogate the electoral college; to substitute the popular voice, preserving the relative weight of the States and of the people; and to limit the term of service to five years. By this amendment, the dangers of an election by the House of Representatives will be entirely avoided, by sending back the election to the people until they shall have made a choice for themselves. On the second trial, however, they will be required to decide between the two highest candidates.

This plan, we are assured by the Telegraph, is the work of a distinguished Virginian, and a Democrat of the Jeffersonian school, one, who, in days of trial, has always stood up for popular rights and popular privileges. The Evening Star says it will be presented to Congress by Mr. Bibb of Kentucky.—Raleigh Star.

Fire at Sea.—Capt. Smith, of the Brig Mexico, arrived at New Orleans, brings accounts of the destruction at sea, by fire, of the British ship Essex, Capt. Vaughan, which left that port on the 24th July, for Liverpool. Mr. Hobson, late Engineer of the Pontchartrain Rail Road Company, was sick at the time, and perished in the flames. Captain Vaughan had died previous to the misfortune. The crew were taken into New Providence by the brig which arrived and communicated the above intelligence to Capt. Smith, at Matanzas.

Mad River and Lake Erie Railroad.—On the 14th instant, that is, next Monday,—books will be opened in this city, in Albany, and in Buffalo, for subscriptions to the amount of eight hundred thousand dollars to this road. The line of the road is from Dayton in Ohio, which town is connected by a canal with the Ohio river at Cincinnati, through Springfield, where it is intersected by the great national road, which stretches already from Baltimore almost to St. Louis, in Missouri—and thence through the richest and most flourishing counties of Ohio, to Sandusky on L. Erie,—thence by steamboats to Buffalo and our own canal, the course is obvious. This will present the most direct route of any yet suggested—and, indeed, upon inspection of the map, we may say of any that can be suggested between the city, and the great valley of the Mississippi.—Hence therefore, the interest which not only the city, but the State of New York should feel in its success. We commend it accordingly to notice.

FAYETTEVILLE:

TUESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 22, 1833.

☞ The Editor earnestly requests all indebted to him, on any account, to make early payment as possible, either personally or by letter. Money may be remitted in the latter mode, (if the postage be paid) at the Editor's risk.

Cape Fear River is now rapidly on the rise, and from the quantity of rain that has fallen, authorities believe that the Steam Boats will be able to run more in operation in a day or two. This will be an agreeable event to those, in town and country, who have had goods long on the river.

Intelligence from Major Downing!—Some of our readers, even in town, may not have heard of the flying visit paid us by this distinguished friend of "the government."—To those who have any doubts upon the subject, we will find his own account of the matter in a letter in this paper.

Foreign.—An arrival at New York furnishes Liverpool and London dates to the 5th ult. There is no important political intelligence. Cotton had fallen about ¼d per lb., and was limited. Sales of the week 10,910 bales.

More bad effects.—We learn that the Directors of the State Bank at Raleigh have been obliged, as a measure of self defence, not to make any further Discounts. Previous to the removal of the Deposites, this Bank had been making the best use of the brief period under of its existence, by discounting very liberally.

The Northern Stage has got back into its old habits. It arrived here yesterday a few minutes before 2 o'clock P. M., and generally arrives about 11 A. M. Since the completion of the Petersburg Rail Road it might as well be here with all ease by 6 A. M.

Manufactures.—The reader will find a very interesting article on the preceding page, on the advantages possessed by North Carolina for becoming a great manufacturing country. Will not the facts there stated in relation to the profits, induce some enterprising individual to purchase the Factory in Fayetteville? It is advantageously situated, as we believe might be had at a low price.

Georgia.—Mr. Lumpkin has been re-elected Governor of Georgia, by a majority of 3000 votes over Major Crawford, the candidate of the Nullifiers.

Internal Improvement Meetings.—The publication of our fellow citizens is called to the communication in another column urging the importance of appointing Delegates to the meeting in Smithfield on the 4th Nov. The measure proposed to be considered at that meeting is one of too much interest to the community to be neglected, and we have decided it as a matter of course that a Delegate would be appointed to attend. We have long thought that a connected line of Rail Road along the main Northern and Southern Mail Route, would be one of the most profitable schemes of improvement in which an investment could be made. We think of course most profitable to the stockholders. The carriage of the Mail, and the great number of passengers, who would travel such a road, would ensure its payment of handsome dividends. It would not, however, be of so much value to the State, as a road from Fayetteville to the Yadkin, and from the latter would afford facilities to trade no other which could not be expected to the former. We do not hesitate to say, however, that next to the Yadkin road, no scheme of improvement in which the citizens of this place ought to feel more interest as in a rail road to connect with the Petersburg road.

Saturday last was the day appointed for the meeting of the Internal Improvement Convention at Salisbury. Several of the Delegates from this place have gone on to Salisbury, and the Wilmington Delegation, consisting of Gen. Edward B. Dudley, Aaron Lazarus and Alex'r. McRae, Esqrs. passed through town on Tuesday on their way. Numerous delegations were appointed from the Counties of Rowan and Mecklenburg. We shall probably get no account of the proceedings for a day or two to come.

A meeting was held in Newbern on the 5th inst. Wm. Gaston presiding, at which, after an eloquent address from the chair, resolutions were adopted recommending to the Legislature, to extend liberal aid to Internal Improvement by Rail Roads; to raise the necessary funds by loans; to subscribe for two-thirds of the stock in any company for the purpose of improvement which may tend to connect and improve markets within the limits of the State; to incorporate a company for making a Rail Road from the waters of Core Harbour to the neighborhood of Hillsborough, to pass through or near Newbern. A committee was appointed to receive subscriptions for stock in the contemplated company.

At a meeting of the citizens of Wilmington, held at the Town Hall on the 3d day of October 1833, pursuant to notice, A. Lazarus, Esq. was called to the Chair, and Wm. C. Lord, Esq. appointed Secretary.

The following Resolutions were offered by J. A. Hill, Esq. and unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That the Citizens of Wilmington feel unabated interest in the construction of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Rail Road—that their views of the expediency of that great work of Internal Improvement have undergone no change.

Resolved, That we cherish a lively interest in the improvement of every part of the State of N. Carolina.

Resolved, That it is expedient that our views and feelings be represented in the Convention proposed to be held in Salisbury on the 17th instant, and that this meeting proceed forthwith to choose six Delegates to said Convention.

Edward B. Dudley, A. Lazarus, Alexander MacRae, John D. Jones, Wm. B. Meares and Robert H. Cowan, were chosen said Delegates.

Resolved, That this meeting do now appoint 22 Delegates to attend the Convention proposed to be held in this town on the 31st inst. and that Gen. James Owen, Joseph A. Hill, Edward B. Dudley, Aaron Lazarus, Alex'r. McRae, Wm. B. Meares, Robert H. Cowan, John A. Taylor, Robert W. Brown, Dr. John Hill, Wm. P. Hort, Thomas F. Davis, P. K. Dickinson, James S. Green, Joshua James, Sen., John D. Jones, Owen Holmes, Wm. C. Lord, John A. Lillington, Thomas H. Wright, and Dr. James F. MacRee be and are hereby appointed said delegates with power to fill vacancies in their body.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the People's Press and Advertiser.

A. LAZARUS, Chairman.

WM. C. LORD, Secretary.

Stage Robberies.—A trunk belonging to Isaac C. Seymour, Esq. of Macon, Geo. was cut from the boot of the stage from Camden to Cheraw, about ten days ago, and has not yet been found. It contained between two and three thousand dollars worth of Gold, in bars, besides other valuable articles.

The following is from the Richmond Enquirer:

Stage Robbery.—On Sunday morning last, the Northern Stage was robbed on its way to Fredericksburg, about 2 miles from this city, of two trunks by cutting them off.—One contained female wearing apparel—the other a large amount of money in Bank Notes, viz:—Bank of Baltimore $800; District of Columbia, Philadelphia, New York, and Richmond branch Bank United States $700; Virginia and Farmers' branch Bank of Norfolk $2,360; Virginia and Farmers' branch Bank $10,010; Union Bank of Tennessee $10; and Farmers' Bank at Winchester $15,000—amounting to $28,880. Great exertions were made yesterday to detect the robbers, but without success. The empty trunk was found rifled of its contents. Five Hundred Dollars Reward has been offered for the trunk and its contents.

The whole of the money contained in this trunk, with the exception of $250, has been recovered. A package containing $12,370, was found near Richmond on Tuesday last. And the remainder was secured in the following manner:—A negro man, a slave, offered a note for change, which he thought was $5. As soon as he was informed that it was a $50 note, he ran off, but he was known and pursued by the officers of Justice to his dwelling, where his wife only was found. By threats she was induced to show the place where the money was concealed. The man has not yet been taken.

Another!—The Stage was again robbed between Fredericksburg and Richmond on Wednesday morning last. Two trunks were taken, which contained nothing but wearing apparel. A trunk which was not taken, contained a large sum of money.

Three stables filled with provender, and one valuable horse, were consumed by fire in Lincolnton, N. C. on the night of the 4th inst. The fire is supposed to have been communicated by some person who made an attempt to rob a store in the vicinity.

We omitted to mention, a few weeks ago, that a new Post Office has been established in Montgomery County, N. C. by the name of Churchville, and Simeon D. Pemberton, Esq. appointed Postmaster.

Balloon Ascension.—Mr. Durant, the Æronaut, ascended in his balloon from Baltimore, on the 14th inst. The wind being light, he continued for 30 minutes in sight of the multitude assembled. He intended to cross the Chesapeake Bay, but finding that he had not time to reach a place of safety on the Eastern Snore before dark, he descended on board the Steam Boat Independence, which was then on her way from Baltimore to Frenchtown. Neither his balloon nor himself experienced the slightest injury, and to such perfection has he brought the art of navigating the air, that he descends at pleasure to such a distance from the earth as to converse with its inhabitants, and then rises again. The hazardous experiment of crossing the Bay, which is there several miles wide, was undertaken voluntarily.

Our Cotton Market.—The Market for Uplands has at length settled down to 16¼ a 16¾ for Store lots. Prime Planters' brands bring 17 cents, and very choice lots would command 17¼. There have been heavy sales, and the article is coming forward in considerable quantity.—Charleston Mercury.

Augusta Cotton Market.—The quantity now coming in is large, and the article has declined in price; this week the quotations are 14⅛ a 15⅝.

Owing to the sudden change in the mode of doing business in the United States Branch Bank of Savannah, the other institutions are at a loss to know what course is most prudent to pursue; therefore, money has become scarce, which always causes a dullness—Also, the rate of Exchange on the North has the same effect; Sixty Days Sight Bills have changed in value, say from 1 per cent. discount, to 70 days interest off; and Checks at Sight, par.—Augusta Gazette.

We have received a specimen sheet of The Moderator, a tri-weekly paper, proposed to be published in Washington City by Mr. Wm. R. Collier. It is neatly printed, and the editorial matter exhibits considerable ability. The Editor advocates the election of Judge M'Lean to the Presidency, and appears to be particularly opposed to the pretensions of Mr. Van Buren to that station.—Raleigh Star.

A London paper states that eight or ten millions sterling—nearly fifty millions of dollars—can be loaned to this country, on the security of such State Governments as want to construct internal improvements, or create new State Banks, at four per cent. interest.

We take great pleasure in informing our readers, that the neglect we noticed some days since, in the transmission of the newspaper bags between Petersburg and Fayetteville has been promptly noticed by the General Post Office Department, and a heavy fine imposed on the Contractor. This is as it should be.—Charleston Courier.

At a Meeting of the Directors of the So. Carolina Bank held yesterday, the proposal of "the Government" that they should receive the public Deposits for this City, was considered, and unanimously rejected. We are informed, that on the conditions required, it is not probable that any Bank in our City will take them.—Charleston Mercury.

We were visited on the evening of Saturday last with the most violent hurricane ever experienced here in the time of the oldest inhabitants. It commenced about half after four, and continued blowing from the South West with alarming violence, for about the space of fifteen minutes. Its reign, though short, left very evident traces of its mischievous power, for besides the usual tribute of chimnies, trees and fences, it succeeded in prostrating several houses in the more open parts of the town. The Rum Distillery, and a half finished dwelling house belonging to Mr. Thos. B. Wallace, were thrown to the ground. The gale had not sufficient easting in it to injure the vessels in port. We have understood, however, that considerable damage was inflicted upon several farms in the neighbourhood.—Newbern Sentinel.

Mr. Grundy has been re-elected Senator to Congress from Tennessee. He was elected on the 55th ballot, when the votes stood—for Grundy 33, Eaton 18, Foster 9.

The 42d ballot stood, for Grundy 23, Foster 23, Eaton 14. Mr. Eaton then, to enable the two Houses to terminate the contest and make an election, addressed a letter to the Speaker of the Senate, withdrawing himself from further competition. Whereupon, Mr. John Bell was nominated, who, after a few ballotings, received as high as 23 votes, but then fell back, and the election on the 55th ballot resulted as above stated.—Nat. Int.

We are often indebted to distant papers for news of what is going on here under our own noses. We find the following in the Philadelphia United States Gazette, and give it for what it is worth. The movements of great men are always interesting.

National Intelligencer.

Rumors.—We hear strange reports from Washington, touching changes in operation. We know not the authenticity of the rumors. They hint at a denunciation of Van Buren by the Globe, at an opposition to the removal of the deposites by the Albany Argus, and a blowing up of the safety fund system; a grand movement by the irresponsible cabinet against Van Buren. "Are these things true?" say our readers. We know only what we hear, and what we have announced above.

The deaths from Cholera in the city of Mexico, in the short space of thirty-five days, have been estimated at 22,000. It was still raging at the last accounts, but was considered less malignant, and as yielding more readily to medical skill.

"Who reads an American Book?"—Dwight's System of Theology has passed through thirty editions in England. Here we unfortunately depreciate the works of our own citizens to aggrandize those of foreigners: in England, no work is held in greater esteem there than Dwight's System—in lexicography, no work is more esteemed than Webster's—and in mathematics, none is so approved as Bowditch's Laplace.

Cooper's new novel, The Headsman, has been published in London now about two months. He has got about 1,000 guineas from his publishers there, and about $5,000 from his publishers in this city: and indeed, for most of his late works, he has received the same amount. Our authors have a manifest advantage in their privilege to secure copyright in England.

MARRIED,

In Wake Forest, on the 9th instant, by the Rev. Geo. W. Freeman, JOHN WINSLOW, Esq. Attorney at Law of this place, to Miss AMANDA MALVINA DONALDSON, eldest daughter of Henry A. Donaldson, Esq.

DIED,

In this County, yesterday, after a lingering illness, of consumption, Mrs. JANE MALLETT, consort of Mr. Lallerstedt Mallett, and daughter of John Smith, Esq. She had long been in the Communion of the Episcopal Church, and met death with that perfect resignation which can only proceed from a strong faith in the merits of the Saviour Amiable in life, her early death will be deplored by a large circle of friends and relatives.

In this town, on Wednesday last, Mr. DUNCAN McCOLL.

In Averasborough, on Thursday last, WILLIAM SMITH, Esq. Postmaster at that place, and a highly respectable and useful citizen.

In Wilmington, on the 13th inst. Mr. OCTAVIUS N. CORBIN, a native of Virginia, but for the last five years a resident of that place.

In Richmond County, on the 12th inst., after an illness of nine days duration of bilious fever, of a peculiarly malignant character, Mrs. NANCY COVINGTON, in the 56th year of her age, consort of Benjamin C. Covington, Esq.

Mrs. Covington, for several years prior to her death, was a faithful and devoted member of the Baptist Church. Her confident trust in the Redeemer of mankind, and her calm and tranquil resignation to the will of God, evinced to all who attended her in her illness, that she had made her peace with God. She spoke of her death to her children and friends, as a subject not of condolence, but rather of congratulation, that she was exchanging a life of affliction, for a blissful abode in the Paradise of God. She was heard to say, "that ere long she would be where there are no burning fevers, no insatiable thirst for water,—grieve not for me, I'm going to Heaven, prepare to meet me in glory." In conclusion, it may truly be said, that in the death of this lady, an affectionate husband has lost an amiable wife, children a soul-devoted mother, servants a kind mistress, and the poor a helping friend.—[COMMUNICATED.

Major JACK DOWNING's komplyments to Mr. Hail, and begs that he will print this and send it to Unkle Josh. at Downingvil—the Major is of back agin to Washington.

Fatevil in Karelina October 1833.

Deer Unkle Josh—As the Giniral and I was settin in the east room tother day, a smokin and a thinkin, says he, Major I was thinkin, and thare he stopt. Wel says I giniral, what ware you thinkin about, as for me, I was jist thinkin of nothin at all—Says he, Major, Squire Bidil is a cute feller, he had every thing redy, when I sent you to look at the bank in Fiadelfy, and that was the reson you found every thing strate, and I'm beginin to think, unles we can katch sum o'them chaps what a'nt redy, the people wont like my proklemashun agin Bidil and the bank wel says I giniral, I'm plagy glad to here you thinks rite once. Now says he Major, if youl jist go as fast as time can hurry you and look at the bank in Fatevil and Charlstown, maybe they havent got all things strate thare, and that will help me out when Kongres cums.—Says I giniral, you know I'd go threw creation to sarve you, but if any man ketches me south side of P.D. he may call me a fool—with that the giniral snashed his pipe agin the poker, and says he, Major youre afeard to go—says I giniral, you hadent ought to say that, I'm not afeard, but then agin, I feel a leetle shy. You know when you go back to the hermitage, I'm to be president, and dont you think, if Kurnel Hane and Mr. Makduphy seed me in the South State, that they woudent nullifi me with a graip vine? theres somethin in that Major says the giniral, kinder softinin down, but wehav many friends in the good old North State, youl go thare wont you? that I will giniral, says I, and that about the quickest. Wel, so soon as the ghiral had rit down all he wonted me too doo, I started in the blew line and traveled nashun fast, til I bum to the rale rode in old Virg ny, and then I thot I was a flyin, the lokemotiv went so fast I couldent think no how, and it maid me sorter side—but when it run to the rownoke (caled ater John of rwnoke) we got to the eend on it, and I got into the male staige and thot I should a had as good a rid as I had in the blew line, and so I had for sleepin—I wonted to git to Fatevil before no body knowd I was cumin, but the male staige went so plagy slw, that a feller totin a baskit of sweet taters to maket on his back got there first and told em all about it, and as soon as I arriv, they cum runin to ax me about the giniral and the goverment. Whares the bank says I, I aint got time to chat now; when they showd me the bank, I jumpt rite in amung um, and says I, hear I am boys, whares squire Husque—says he, I am hear Major, and desperate glad to see you, with that he shuk me by the hand and said he hoped I left the goverment all well—all well, thanks Squire, says I, and the giniral has sent me to look at your bank and see if alls rit. Says he Major, you shall see every thing, and so at it we went, lookin into one book and then lookin into another; and it mout be, I was inside from ridin on the rale rode, but I coudent find nohin rong. I teld you how cute Bidil and his folks was in figerin and siferin, wel, squire Husque and these fellers hear in the piny woods is jist as cute. Thinks I, they hant got any of the rino, so says I, Squire Husque, I'll jist look into your vawlt, with that they turned out the kags of dollars and peaces of goold, and I kounted and waid, untill I got the bak ake—findin every thing as strate as a pin took, and fearin I coudent find nothin to help out the giniral's proklamashun agin the bank, I turned round and says I, Squire Husque, have you pade our penshoners? Now, thinks I, have you, but he tel'd one of his Clarks to bring a great big book, and says he, Major look; I did look Unkel Josh, and I'm a lier, if I dident find that all our penshoners had got what Kongres gin em, and that the bank had pade em, when goverment hadent a dollar hear—says the Squire, Major are you satisfied? Says I squire Husque, its no use lokin any more—hat tarnal critter Amus Kindle, has got the goverment in a purty snarl, and I must stake it bak agin to Washington to help to alter the message before Kongres meats.

Squire Husque and the hul on em, wonted me to stay deperate bad, to give me a publik dinner, as they sail that dear meet and sweet taters was plenty jistnow; but I cant stay, and I will git Mr. Hail to prnt this that you may know what I'm a doin. I think when I git back to Washington and tell the giniral all Ive seed, twil be all over with Amus—no more at present,

your lovin neffu
Major JACK DOWNING.

To my Urkel Josh
at Downingvil, way down east.

Noty Bny—If youve forgot your jogrify and dont know whare Fatevil is, I'll tell you—its upon a X kreek, close on upon Kap far river, nigh on to a big swamp.

FOR THE OBSERVER.

Mr. Hale: I hope the invitation to appoint delegates to the proposed Convention, to be held in Smithfield, in the course of the following month, will be attended to by the citizens of this community: it is a matter of much importance to them, and to the whole State. A road to connect the northern and southern portions of the State, will be attended with many advantages.

On the subject of Rail Roads, about which the public mind has of late been so much occupied, permit me to say, that it is evidently the policy of North Carolina, to embark at once, in a liberal system of Internal Improvement. It is the only means of elevating her to the stand which she of right, ought to occupy. At present she is far behind her sister States in the march of improvement. While other members of the union, are nobly vieing with each other, in the work of improving the condition of their citizens, North Carolina has been content to sit with folded arms, witnessing the daily emigration of some of her most valued sons, who seek wealth and distinction in other and more flourishing portions of the confederacy. And are there not, sir, motives of State pride, are there not inducements political and pecuniary, sufficiently strong to induce her to make one effort, to throw off the shackles that fetter her, and march boldly on to the great work? There is no State in the Union, possessing superior advantages. With a climate, mild and salubrious, with a soil, rich in all the varied productions of nature, with a population, frugal and industrious, [illegible] could prevent her attaining that eminence [illegible] she merits, and to which, she is now a stra[illegible] the means of easy and cheap intercommu[illegible] were afforded to her citizens, if her rivers were improved, if rail roads were constructed, and her commercial marts fostered and encouraged? If to the want of these advantages and facilities, her present depressed condition is to be ascribed; may we not indulge the hope, that the ensuing legislature, catching a portion of the spirit which now animates the public mind, will bury all sectional feelings and prejudices, and do something for the State. The people expect it from them, nor will they be satisfied with the stale and chilling excuse, "the public purse must be guarded." No wasteful or injudicious expenditure of public money is asked, but in the name of our common country, let them devise and prosecute some plan, by which the State can be saved from ruin. Let them once begin and the work will go on,—success must attend the effort. Let them create a fund by loan, to be applied, on some just and equal principle, under the direction of the legislature, to such works of internal improvement, as private enterprise may suggest and private capital may be embarked in. A.

STOP THE RUNAWAY!

Twenty Dollars Reward.

RANAWAY from the Subscriber on the 4th of August, a Negro Boy named PETER. He is about 17 or 18 years of age, rather an old appearance for a boy of that age; his weight is about 120; his height five feet one or two inches; small feet and ancles; large shoulders, and a tottering walk; he has a scar on one of his hands, but it is not recollected which; he is quite black. The last account I had of him, he had on a cotton shirt and bombazette pantaloons. He will be found quite artful in telling tales in his own favor to make his escape. I suppose Peter will try to get back to the County of either Greene or Craven, as he was brought from one of them or from one of the adjoining Counties by a Speculator, about four years ago. He was seen on Monday, the 19th of August, about eight miles east of Rockingham, on the stage road leading from Rockingham to Graham's bridge.

Any person taking up said Boy, can let me know it, by dropping me a few lines to Tindalsville, Anson County, North Carolina.
